To Whom It May Concern:

Rey Mark Engada has worked for almost a year as an Application Developer at Omnisystems LLC. During this time, he was a dependable resource who never missed a chance to surprise us with his creativity and ability to get things done promptly.

Rey was an asset to our team. He has helped us maintain our apps to ensure nothing breaks, provides immediate resolution when something happens, and is always willing to push his limits. He is highly motivated to take on new challenges and is always on top of things assigned to him.

We are sad to let him go however, due to business needs we have to make difficult decisions.

Despite the challenges, I highly recommend Rey as I can see so much value in him and he's just one of a kind. I'm sure wherever he goes, he'll always exceed expectations with his skills.
